The Jewish Healthcare Foundation rounded out its 2011 contributions in the Jewish community with a $900,000 grant to the Jewish Federation of Greater Pittsburgh.

Previous or ongoing commitments to the Jewish community that JHF funded in 2011 included $1.6 million for the Jewish Association on Aging's Renaissance Campaign for developing a continuum of care. This grant is part of an overall $35 million commitment to the JAA by JHF.

Other JHF funding in the Jewish community this year included grants to:

- Hillel Jewish University Center for free genetic disease screenings and its leadership portfolio program;
- Jewish Federation of Greater Pittsburgh for its Centennial Fund for a Jewish Future and its planning grant to establish a Jewish history center in Pittsburgh;
- Community Day School to support two memorials being constructed: World War II Veterans of Southwestern Pennsylvania Memorial and the Holocaust Keeping Tabs Memorial; and
- Various Jewish community organizations, agencies and day schools to support their health-related projects.

In all, the board approved grants in 2011 totaling nearly $2.9 million to the Jewish community.

Alan R. Guttman

chief executive officer of The Guttman Group, will succeed Patricia L. Siger as chair of the JHF board of trustees. Guttman, who will serve a three-year term, most recently served as board chair of the Pittsburgh Regional Health Initiative.

The Career Development Center, a division of Jewish Family & Children's Service, has partnered with Ed2go, an online education company, to offer hundreds of online self-paced tutorials and instructor-led courses.

The CDC's newest initiative is intended to help job seekers update or augment their current skills and knowledge for increased competitive advantage through the CDC Online Learning Center.

Ed2go offers 17 different subject areas and hundreds of course selections within each area. Whether individuals are looking to brush up on their skills with a personal development course or widen their base by exploring a different field like business and accounting or computer applications, a wide variety of options are available.

The Online Learning Center users get the benefit of online courses that are convenient and affordable and can be taken virtually anywhere in the world and self-paced tutorials that can be started anytime and completed at the user's own pace.

Instructor-led courses, led by experts in the respective fields, run for six weeks with new sessions starting every month, which users can sign up for anytime. Participants will spend two to four hours each week completing two lessons in an interactive learning environment.

A certificate of completion is issued to participants with a passing score upon completion.
